ENGE420 - Microprocessors
Project Milestone 1:

Project Definition

Create a Chirps web page for your project. This web page should look similar to others on the Chirps website, and should have the same headings and table structure. Copy the Roadrunner or Owl page. You will be short on content at this time. For now, I would like you to fill in the following sections:

1. Project Description (in the box at the top of the page) – Provide an overview of the board and its intended function.

2. Function Reference – Delineate the interface that you expect the board to provide. Clearly, this can change, but it will be a great service in mapping out exactly what you are attempting to design.

3. Component Datasheets – Identify the major components that you plan on using, and place their datasheets in the Datasheets section of the Wiki.
